

How would the nuclear waste be stored?

Nuclear waste would be buried inside a labyrinth of deep tunnels, keeping it well away from the surface where radiation could cause problems. This illustration shows the Swedish facility built by Posiva

