

Likely line-ups

Tonight, kick-off 7.45pm

Television

SKY SPORTS 1

itv 1

Venue

Stadio Olimpico, Rome

Referee

M Busacca (Switzerland)

Key clash

Samuel Eto'o v Nemanja Vidic

● There have been times in recent years when Sir Alex Ferguson has looked into the possibility of taking Eto'o to Old Trafford, but this evening the only objective is to stop him. While all the focus has been on Lionel Messi, Eto'o has scored 34 goals for Barcelona this season and, although not as quick as Fernando Torres, he has the kind of pace that may cause Vidic difficulties. It seems fair to say, though, that there are not too many centre backs like Vidic in La Liga. Strong, aggressive and uncompromising, the Serbia defender will win this contest unless it comes down to pace

